

Preserving the Past... Embracing the Future...

Following a pilot project by the Church in Wales in the Diocese of Llandaff, we will discuss how church burial records are being linked to an accurate, interactive web map and the benefits this will bring to many, including but not limited to, schools, historians and the general public.

The map is created using high end survey technologies combining photographic imagery from above and on the ground together with mobile laser scanning. When linked with images of individual memorials and transcribed data from scanned burial registers, the result is not only a powerful tool for research, analysis and the protection of heritage but hitherto difficult to access information becomes available to many, easy to maintain and secure.
