

Gorffennol Digidol Digital Past - 2020

DIGITAL SKILLS FOR HERITAGE

Josie Fraser, Head of Digital Policy, The National Lottery Heritage Fund

Josie Fraser will talk about why digital skills and confidence are now essential for individuals and organisations working across the heritage sector. Heritage organisations of all shapes and sizes are already making creative and effective use of technologies to enthuse, educate and engage communities with their work. Others are making initial steps, or may not be sure where to start.

This keynote will cover the wide range of ways that the National Lottery Heritage Fund is taking its ambition for the sector forward, including support for digital capability and leadership development. The fund is providing a significant number of opportunities that organisations can get involved with and benefit from.

The National Lottery Heritage fund believes everyone working in the heritage sector should be able to make the very best use of the opportunities afforded by technology to meet their own organisational goals.

Biography

Josie Fraser is a Social and Educational Technologist who has worked across education, government and the civic sector to embed innovative and effective practice in the use of technology. She was awarded Honorary Life Membership of the Association of Learning Technologists in 2017. She is Head of Digital Policy at the National Lottery Heritage Fund. Until January 2020 she was senior technology adviser at the Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport, leading on a range of digital policy areas across government and internationally.

You can follow her on Twitter at @josiefraser

